

The only bike in Pescadero?

Finally a couple of guys I saw earlier show up in Pescadero; usually you see quite a few cyclist out here. Still overcast but the light drizzle is gone and it never got cold. Now if I can just get rid of a pesky yellow jacket.

I'm doing a reverse Pescadero loop today, adding west alpine for an extra bit of fun. That's the plan anyway, and each time I've thought about making it easier I come across a cyclist or two a whole lot heavier than I am, making a go of it on a steep climb.

