

New Blog from Becky

My daughter Becky, whom many of you know from her work with your Project One bikes and her work with our apparel in the Redwood City store, now has her own blog on-line, appropriately-titled "Becky's Blog." There's a link to it in the menu at the top of this page, and of course here.

See what she's up to, and don't forget to leave comments encouraging her to write & ride more! --Mike-- (aka "Dad")