

We want YOU! Join the (free) Strava Chain Reaction Team!

The screenshot shows the Strava profile for 'Chain Reaction Bicycles'. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'STRAVA' logo, 'FEATURES', 'HOW IT WORKS', 'PLANS', 'Sign Up', and 'Log In'. Below this is a yellow banner with 'Sign Up' and the text 'Sign up to Strava to see more details about Chain Reaction Bicycles.' and 'Metric English' options. The profile header includes the 'Chain Reaction Bicycles' logo, the name 'Chain Reaction Bicycles', and location 'Redwood City CA, United States'. The 'ACTIVITY FEED' section lists three recent rides: Mike Jacobowsky (53.1 mi, 5,518 ft), Kevin Jacobowsky (58.0 mi, 6,037 ft), and Dick R. (21.5 mi, 1,311 ft).

If you've got a Garmin bike computer, or a GPS-enabled phone (many Androids and iPhone 3GS, 4 & 4S models), you can easily keep track of your rides on-line, for free! And who knows when we might offer special discounts and events just for members of our Chain Reaction Team Strava. We just started, and we're needing some help because I was gone for 10 days this month (and my son got lazy while I was gone and didn't log any rides either).

If you haven't joined Strava, try it out. Like I said, it's free (you can pay $59/year for advanced stuff if you want, but the free version does pretty amazing stuff), and you can sign up here. Once you're a member, follow this link and join our team! No obligation, nothing to buy. :-)
--Mike--