

Coming home

One long flight from Tokyo to LAX then a quick run up the coast and I'm home. Four flights behind me, only two left. Will be nice to be back in the Bay Area again with nice dry air. Feels like I could use three showers a day here!

Funny how I'm leaving Tokyo at 4:40pm on Wednesday but arrive home at 1:30pm... on Wednesday! Time travel? Too bad it's so uncomfortable. If we can't have supersonic planes anymore, could we at least have stackable lie-flat pods that we could sleep in while flying

The crowd in the United Club lounge in Tokyo, watching Romney's concession speech. Location: Narita, Japan