

Kevin's hyperbaric chamber?

Check it out; Kevin must be getting really serious about his training! I wish. He's actually having a Gamma Camera scan at Kaiser, trying to run down the source of some severe pain in his side the past two weeks. At first they thought it was another kidney stone but they've ruled that out, and this test eliminated gall bladder issues (what does a gall bladder do anyway??). I'm thinking appendix but there remains a possibility it's related to a new drug he's on for epilepsy. Whatever it is, it's kept him off his bike for two weeks now and out of school for quite a bit as well.

Not really a hyperbaric chamber, it's a Gamma Camera

What happened to the good old days when they just yanked out your appendix and asked questions later?

Sorta puts my complaints about my cold-weather breathing issues in perspective.
