

I'm not dead yet!

MileagePlus UNITED Michael, take advantage of this exclusive opportunity to join AARP. MileagePlus # XXXX1981 | Premier® Platinum making life more rewarding just for you.

MileagePlus and AARP

As a thank-you for being a valued MileagePlus® member, you can now receive a complimentary one-year membership to AARP for yourself and your spouse or partner. There is no cost to you for the membership and no obligation to continue once your complimentary year expires. As an AARP member, you receive access to:

- A subscription to the award-winning AARP The Magazine
- Tools to help with everything from finances to healthy living
- Discounts on eyewear and eye care, home security, mobile services and more
- Trusted news and information regarding health, money, the workplace and more

We're always looking for new ways to reward our valued MileagePlus members. Please accept this AARP membership as a token of our appreciation.

By accepting this offer, you are allowing MileagePlus to provide your name and address from your account to AARP. If you would like to check the information in your account or if your information needs to be updated, please click here.

Accept now >

This is what I get in my inbox. Absolutely no respect for me from United Airlines. Am I going to get a discount coupon for Skylawn Cemetery in tomorrow's emails? Maybe nursing home, er, I mean, "assisted living" brochures in the mail?

I used a blowtorch on the invitation the AARP sent me in the mail last year. I suppose they think sending an email means I'm less-likely to produce on-line vitriol again? They're wrong. 57 is just a number. 65 will be just a number. 70 will be... well, tell you the truth, 70 does scare me a bit. At some point I'll wonder if that last ride over Sonora Pass was the last ride over Sonora Pass I'd ever do. At some point I'll not be thinking about scaling back, but probably actually have to.

I'm not there yet, and I don't plan to be anytime soon. So don't talk to me about taking a vacation on a cruise ship (Little-known fact about cruise ships- they're actually run by aliens seeking to fatten you up for their dinner). Don't tell me that I've worked hard enough all my life that I've "earned" some nice quiet time doing nothing.

HOVEROUND
Personal Mobility Vehicle

Regain the independence you once had with a power wheelchair.
Click here for your complimentary info kit

Get your life back!
You don't have to miss out on the activities you enjoy.

In a Hoveround you'll regain the independence you need to live your life. Whether it's grocery shopping, visiting with friends, or just getting around the house, it's time to get your life back.

With Hoveround you'll benefit from:

- ✓ No confusing claim forms to fill out.
- ✓ 9 out of 10 pay little to no cost.*
- ✓ All Hoverounds come standard with a cup holder and tote bag.

FREE INFO KIT
Click here

Don't wait another day to get your independence back!

Breaking news! This just arrived in my email box a day later. Again, I'M NOT DEAD YET!

How much time do I have? I don't know if I might get stricken some day with something like my father got (a rare blood-borne cancer), which took his strength and his life, 25 years ago. Younger than I am now. But what I do know is that each and every day is an opportunity to do something. Something real. Something more relevant, to me, than a "Senior Citizen" discount at the movies, or a great deal at the Scooter Store. My plan, and remember, there's always a plan, is to go down screaming and kicking. I literally pray to God that I can execute that plan. --Mike--