

Very different ride than Tuesday. Different... better!

After Tuesday's pretty ugly ride, well, the best way to look at it was that things couldn't get any worse. That's how I played it, that's how I kept my spirits up long enough to realize that I could climb OK, I could have a bit of fun now & then, and I could even bring the max watts up to a better level.

Kevin and Kevin today, started out pretty cool (42F) but over 60 up on top! Beautiful day. And really nice not to be the weakest link.